With new funding from the Mayor of London's Shared Endeavour Fund, Arc Theatre has re-developed its dynamic primary school engagement resource designed to counter extremism and build stronger communities. Originally developed in 2019 for the Home Office 'Building a Stronger Britain Together' programme, Unlimited offers practical teacher/staff training before working with children in school, aiming to create more resilient communities, stand up to extremism in all its forms, and offer vulnerable individuals a positive alternative, regardless of race, faith, sexuality, age and gender.

Unlimited features an original piece of live performance specially created for young people, using a fictional story set in WWII to open up the debate on difference, prejudice, tolerance, empathy and respect. Using age-appropriate language, techniques and exercises, we take young participants on a journey of human behaviour, exploring today's technological era whereby everything from bullying, peer pressure and fake news, through to propaganda, hate crime and extremism is amplified and accelerated by way of the internet and wider media.

Through Arc's engaging workshop activities and discussions which aim to promote British Values, young people will learn to celebrate unity in diversity, while sensitively exploring and challenging a range of damaging extremist narratives.

Unlimited is available FREE OF CHARGE to selected primary schools in Barking & Dagenham, Havering and Redbridge on a first-come, first-served basis. Schools are required to take up both parts of this programme:

- * One 45/60-minute teacher INSET (open to all staff and PTA representatives),
- * Two 120-minute live performance/workshop sessions in the hall (on the same day) with up to 90 children in Years 5 or 6 (3 classes).

To book Unlimited, please contact Natalie Smith or Theresa Snooks at Arc by email: nat@arctheatre.com or theresa@arctheatre.com, or call 07483 342158.
